MEET YOUR TRAINER

Let me introduce myself... I have been in the beauty industry for over 18 years and have worked in high end salons and spas across the globe. I have had the privilege to be mentored and trained by some of the best in the business.

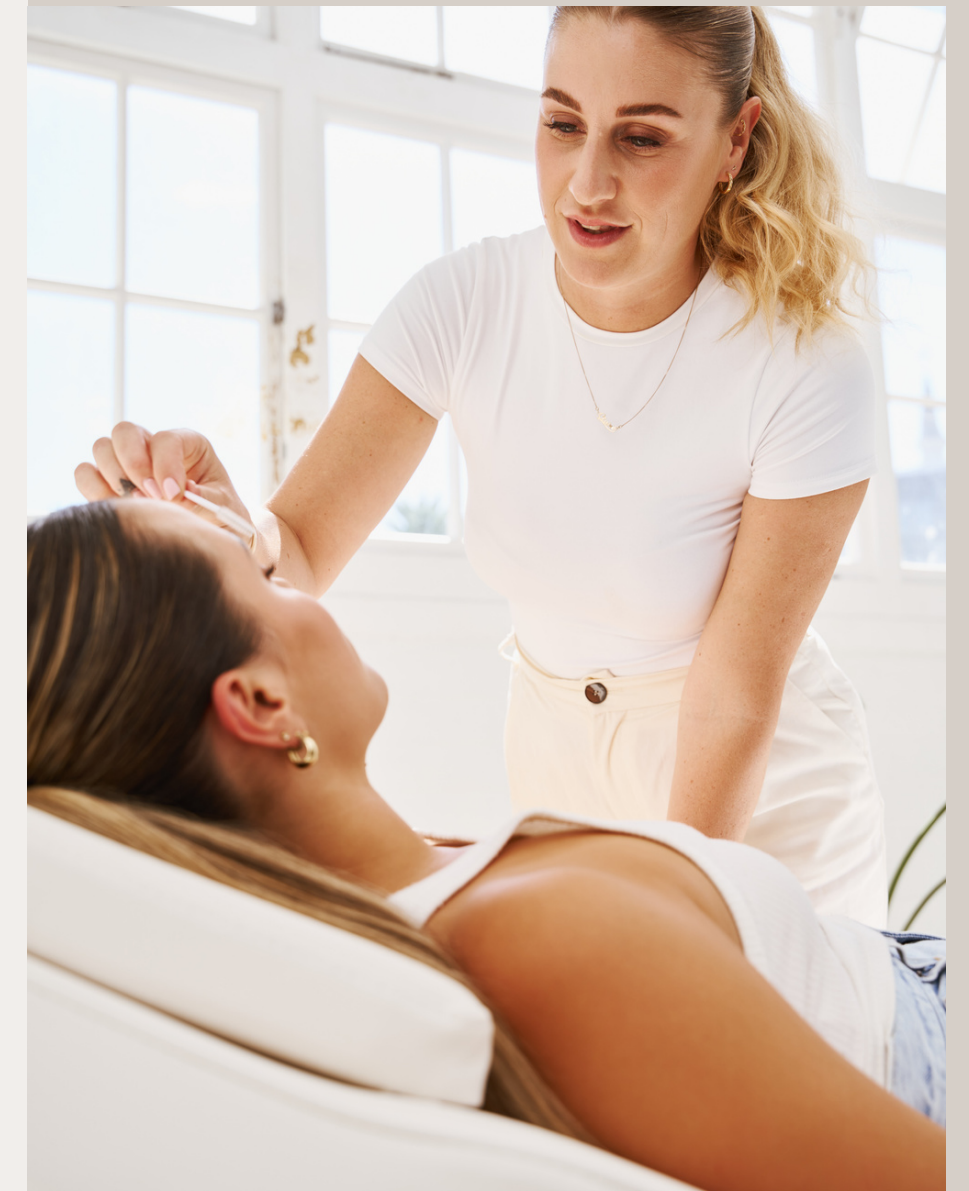

I am an absolute perfectionist and my passion for the industry has never stopped. I am continually investing in my own training from international artists from around the globe to provide you with the most up to date techniques and products. I go above and beyond for every single one of my clients and students who travel from all over the country to see me.

My goal as an educator is to break the boundaries of limited educational content and provide everything you could ever need to start & grow your own business.
